Welcome to Greene County, Iowa. Thanks for visiting us. We're sure as you take time to look through our Business and Tourism Guide, you will discover Greene County is a great place to live and to visit.

Leadership is important in every community. The strength of our county centers within the people and families who live, work and play here. The city of Jefferson serves as our county seat, and surrounding communities of Cooper, Churdan, Dana, Grand Junction, Paton, Rippey and Scranton provide leadership to our county as a whole.

Our quality of life is supported by a progressive school system, a strong local manufacturing base and a successful agricultural economy. Entertainment and recreation options are varied; the creative arts, museums and theatres are well represented, shopping and dining choices can meet any taste, and our faith-based communities are strong.

Progressive leadership and entrepreneurial thinking propel a vibrant energy and the possibilities of growth. We've become more accustomed to collaborating and working together to achieve our goals. And with our goals in sight, we work together to plan for a future of growth and prosperity.

We welcome both returnees and newcomers, and with our designation as Iowa's first Home Base Iowa community recently, we offer our nation's returning veterans a special Welcome Home package. With an attractive jobs package, a thriving economy and our Home Base programs networking, veterans and their families will soon know there's no place like home in Greene County.

Greene County Chamber’s motto “THINK GREENE” and our purpose “to foster thriving relationships between individuals, businesses and organizations by serving as a leader, advocate and resource for Greene County businesses” serve as our touchstone. By developing programs and events that promote and market the unique assets of Greene County, we strive to benefit our members and our community as a whole.

Please stop and visit our Chamber office. We are here to serve and help you succeed.

Ben Yoder
President
Greene County Chamber of Commerce
Jefferson: Jefferson is a great place to raise a family! Our small town quality of life is safe and friendly. Our schools and health care are excellent. Greene County Early Learning Center provides education-based child care. Parks and recreational programs give kids and adults plenty of free time choices. Our location within an hour of Des Moines and Ames gives easy access to additional cultural events and attractions, while the distance eliminates the hassles of metropolitan living.

Housing is affordable and, with several new areas under development, available in many price ranges. Entrepreneurship is welcome and supported. Our local telephone company provides state-of-the-art telecommunications technology for those who can work from home. Area industries and businesses are hiring. We have room and resources for your business to relocate!

Let us give you a tour and a chance to share our love of living here. As Mayor of Jefferson, I invite you to consider making Jefferson your home. Sincerely, Craig Berry

Churdan: A school has existed in Churdan since 1882. Today, through sharing arrangements, the Paton-Churdan school boasts classes in all grade levels. The community is served by strong American Legion and Lions Clubs. A well-stocked library and a very active library program augment the school system. Catholic, Methodist and Baptist churches have active congregations. Businesses include a bank, a restaurant, a funeral home, and a convenience store. A Veterans Memorial Park, dedicated in 2012, stands in honor of the five branches of the United States Armed Services.

Dana: Founded in 1879 by Samuel Dana on the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad, Dana at one time had a cheese factory that produced 12,000 pounds of cheese per day from area dairies. Today’s Dana is oriented to grain farming and pork production. Juhl Feed, an agricultural supplier, is the major business. In 2011, Junction Hilltop Wind constructed five new wind towers nearby, helping supply power to the Louis Dreyfus ethanol plant between Dana and Grand Junction.

Grand Junction: Established at the crossroads of two great rail lines, the Mississippi-Missouri and the Minneapolis-St. Louis in the 1860s, today the “junction” rail lines are both Union Pacific Railroad, a “spine line” north to Minneapolis and the “double main”, a major east/west route, hauling coal, grain, ethanol and soy oil and freight across the nation. Spurred by a Louis Dreyfus ethanol plant, Reuter’s Red Power implement dealership, Neese Farm Service and Kafer Trucking and Repair Services, Grand Junction benefits from the robust farm economy. A sports bar/restaurant, a motel and Casey’s General Store along Highway 30 and a bank, the post office, a bowling alley, funeral home and a laundromat in town supply needed services. Grand Junction has a swimming pool and library, the Kennedy Museum, Lincoln Highway Museum and at the edge of town, a Lincoln Highway interpretive park, with a new community center in the works to serve the community.

Paton: William Paton emigrated from Scotland to New York City in 1836. As a land broker, he came west on the railroad to see the country. Paton liked what he saw - he established a library in Paton and provided the people who would establish the town. Today’s Paton, home of agricultural equipment manufacturer Bauer Built, has a business class restaurant, bar and conference center, 209 Main, a new fire station and an updated library. There is talk of a housing and lodging project. Bauer Built recently sold to John Deere which will continue to manufacture huge corn and soybean planters in the facility. The visionary Bauer is creating his next enterprise across the road from his original buildings.

Rippey: Two banks, grain elevator, convenience store, fire department and United Methodist Church are located in Rippey. Rippey’s fire department maintains a team of 12 volunteer firefighters and celebrated 100 years of service in 2011. In the depths of winter in February, Rippey is the destination for the annual BRR ride (Bike Ride to Rippey) from Perry, “just” 15 miles away. Hundreds of hardy souls brave the elements to prove they can survive and enjoy the Friends of Rippey’s hospitality and Hot Beef Sundaes.

Scranton: The iconic Scranton water tower, one of the first elevated steel towers in the state, was constructed in 1897 and is still in operation today. Scranton is host to two of our leading local manufacturers, Scranton Manufacturing, which constructs solid waste management equipment, and B and D Manufacturing, a geothermal components manufacturer. Welder Tom Walker has created a sideline business; his beautifully crafted benches now grace installations in parks and towns across the county. The community has a newspaper, community cable TV and telephone service, a very active library, a bank, a branch of the West Central Coop and several active churches.

Cooper: Cooper is home to boosters “Iowa Boy” Chuck Offenburger and wife Carla Offenburger, who helped found the Raccoon River Valley Trail Association. The Offenburgers are promoters of dozens of trail improvements and community events. Lifelong resident Larry Dean Monthei’s welding shop attracts farm and industrial business from across the region. An active Methodist congregation gathers weekly in the 1880s church. The Franklin Township school gymnasium, now under ownership of fourth generation Cooperites, is undergoing a transformation to a museum of small town and farming antiquities. “Everything is Super in Cooper.”

Jefferson Matters:
Main Street helps shape future of downtown

Jefferson Matters: Main Street was established in 2012 to make downtown Jefferson a vibrant business district that preserves a rich architectural heritage and showcases thriving shops, restaurants and services. With our downtown partners — City of Jefferson, Greene County, Greene County Chamber of Commerce, and Greene County Development Corporation — we are making downtown Jefferson a vital business hub and visitor destination.

Jefferson Matters: supports the four-point approach of the National Main Street program. Teams of local volunteers work together to support each point — Design, Organization, Promotion and Economic Restructuring.

We are already seeing results. In less than two years, $2.5 million in private funds have been invested in building rehabilitation and property acquisition in the Main Street district. This investment in downtown Jefferson has resulted in 15 new or expanded businesses and 33 new jobs.

Jefferson Matters: Main Street’s accomplishments have been honored with three awards from Main Street Iowa in the past two years. But we are not resting on our laurels. Working with the community, we have developed a Vision Statement as a tool for selling our potential dreams to volunteers, investors, supporters and partners — and to guide us forward in the years ahead:

We will preserve the rich, architectural heritage of our National Historic Register District, which is composed of 55 buildings on the downtown courthouse square and adjacent blocks. These and other rehabilitated buildings in our downtown will feature shops and services that help re-create the hustle and bustle that marked downtown Jefferson in past years. We will also make downtown a gathering spot for cultural activities that will enhance the commercial success we are building toward as a proud Main Street community.

For more information about Jefferson Matters: Main Street, visit our office at 110 West Lincoln Way or contact us by email, director@jeffersonmatters.org. Updated information is available at www.jeffersonmatters.org.

Open mid-July through Christmas, “from sweet corn to Christmas trees,” they look forward to seeing you soon! www.dealsorchard.com

Doreen Wilber Olympic Plaza: “Focus, believe in yourself, and shoot only one arrow at a time.” - Doreen Wilber, Jefferson native. Doreen Wilber was the first Iowa woman to win an Olympic Gold Medal and was the Olympic Gold Medalist in Archery in Munich, Germany, 1972, setting two World records. A circle of paving bricks, centered by a marble pedestal, the life-size bronze statue of Wilber by Illinois sculptor Jeff Adams, is the centerpiece of the plaza. She stands, poised mid-shot, northeast of the Greene County Community Center at the corner of Lincolnway and Vine Streets. To complete the Olympic venue experience, a bronze target has also been placed across the street at a distance similar to what Wilber shot in competition.

Greene County Courthouse: Built in 1917, the courthouse boasts a dome rotunda with a stained glass ceiling. Offices are accessed through archways of marble that frame the murals depicting the “progress of civilization as recorded in Iowa.” The rotunda floor is a mosaic of the county seal with the theme “Home of the Horn of Plenty.” Located in the downtown square of Jefferson.

Greene County Historical Society Museum: Since 1966, the society has made continuous progress in collecting, preserving, restoring, cataloging and displaying hundreds of items pertinent to the history of Greene County, starting with the first settler in 1849. The museum is located on the northeast side of the courthouse square in Jefferson, as well as a large metal building on the Greene County Fairgrounds to house a log cabin, farm machinery and farm-related implements. A one-room schoolhouse is also located nearby.
The Historic Plaques Project: On the base of the brick lamp posts around the square, you will find historic plaques of people and events that were significant to Jefferson and Greene County. The plaques are all found on the pedestrian side of the bases. QR codes will give you more information about the person or event. You will leave knowing so much more about our town and county.

John 15 Vineyard: Located six miles north of Scranton at the home of Dean and Nancy Rogers. The vineyard is an “all-in-one destination” for social events, meetings and retreats in a country setting. Have a restful night in the lodge or a unique camping experience on a deck in the trees in the timber. Enjoy fishing in the vineyard pond or a “short” game of Pitch and Putt Golf. Products include: jelly, jam, syrup, pie and much more. Open Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. and by appointment year round, tobacco and alcohol free. www.john15vineyard.com and (712) 652-3760.

Kennedy Museum: Located one block south of Main Street on Hager Street in Grand Junction. You will find thousands of antiques and collectibles from late 1800s and early 1900s that represent the past of Greene County and many small towns in Iowa.

Lincoln Highway Heritage Byway: Local citizens donated money to pave Lincoln Highway across Greene County, beginning with Grand Junction. This was the first paved section of the Highway in Iowa. Memorabilia is exhibited at the Milwaukee Railroad Depot and Lincoln Highway Museum in Grand Junction.

Mahanay Carillon Tower is located on the southwest corner of the Jefferson City Square. It was completed in 1966 with money left in the will of Floyd Mahanay. The tower’s 14 bells were cast at the world-famous Petit & Fritzen Foundry in The Netherlands and strike every quarter hour. Visitors can take the elevator on a scenic ride to the 128-foot observation deck and have a spectacular view of Jefferson, Greene County, and surrounding counties. The Bell Tower is open daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. from Memorial Day to Labor Day. Open weekends in May, September, and October along with special events scheduled through the Chamber of Commerce Office. Admission is $3 for adults and $2 for youth 5 and under. Special tours can be arranged through the Chamber Office.

Milwaukee Railroad Depot: The depot is listed on the National Historical Places. It serves as a trailhead to the Raccoon River Valley Bike Trail on East Lincolnway in Jefferson. It also has restrooms, picnic area and public gardens.

RVP~1875: Historic Furniture Shop and Museum - 2013 Outstanding Tourism Business in Iowa. Owner, Robby Pedersen, Master Furniture Maker, with more than 20 years experience, who has built more than 800 pieces of historically accurate furniture using only the tools, techniques and finishes used in 1875 Iowa. More than 100 pieces of furniture and 500 historic tools on display and demonstrated Tue.-Sat. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. (515) 370-4306.

Scranton Water Tower: This 1897 all-steel elevated water tank landmark has a capacity of 48,000 gallons and stands 148 feet high. It is the oldest water tower still in service in Iowa and the ninth oldest still in service in the U.S.

Threshing Bee: Pleasant Prairie Threshing Bee at the Foster-Timmons farm is all about education, preserving the history of early agricultural implements and understanding how farmers lived and what the work was like, and it’s FREE. Often in early American agriculture, the farmers would help one another out. Today, the Threshing Bee is for viewing, entertainment and historical demonstration.

Memorial Park: Located across from the Milwaukee Railroad Depot on East Lincolnway, the tank was donated by the Army as a memorial to all who served in land wars. Dedicated on Veteran’s Day November of 1998.

Darrell Lindsey Memorial: Lindsey was a World War II Medal of Honor recipient whose B-26 airplane took a direct hit. By his skillful maneuvering, the crew was able to parachute to safety. Captain Lindsey went down with his aircraft on his 46th bombing mission. The Lindsey Memorial once stood at the Lindsey Air Station in Wiesbaden, Germany. When the base was closed, the monument was placed in Greene County, the home county of Captain Lindsey.

Lincoln Statue: The Abraham Lincoln Statue was erected in 1918 as a gift from local resident E. B. Wilson to honor the first highway across the United States. This monument serves to commemorate the coast to coast Lincoln Highway, paved in 1926, which crossed through Jefferson directly in front of the monument.
Thomas Jefferson Gardens: Greene County’s namesake, Thomas Jefferson, the patron saint of rural America, is celebrated in the Thomas Jefferson Gardens. The garden’s design includes plantings of specimens found at Jefferson’s Monticello, Virginia, home. The gardens feature five informational centers: Farmer’s Garden, Lewis and Clark Prairie Garden, Children’s Garden, Vegetable Garden and an Herb and Flower Garden. Special features include a replica of Jefferson’s mould-board plow, brick pathways, wrought-iron fencing and an open-air Pavilion.

Greene County Welcome Center: The Welcome Center will showcase events, attractions and amenities unique to Greene County to our residents and visitors. It will be the first stop for visitors, for foot-traffic as well as bus tours, housing much-needed public restrooms. It will also benefit our local residents by providing a concierge service — a listing of goods and services for consumers to find locations for receptions, caterers, entertainment and more. The center will provide a clearing house of volunteer activities and opportunities, arrange tours and provide information with interpretive educational displays through a combination of traditional media and internet accessible electronic kiosks. The exhibit space tells our story and informs the public on the story of Thomas Jefferson, the Gardens and all of Greene County along with a wonderful welcome to visitors, tourists and our community — all at the Greene County Welcome Center. For more information, find us on Facebook at Greene County IA Welcome Center.
Community Players of Greene County: Established in 1972, the Community Players of Greene County bring entertainment to the area through plays, musicals and dinner theatre productions. The Players provide the opportunity for people of all ages to perform and/or help backstage to bring a show to life. To get involved or find out more, email the Players at cpgcia@gmail.com.

Prairie Blue Creative Arts is a not for profit community arts organization dedicated to providing all persons the opportunity to experience the creative arts. Events include: concerts, fine art exhibits, classes and workshops for all ages (dance, art, music), stage plays, readings, local food dinners, and the popular Summer Youth Theatre for student actors ages 5 and up. See them on Facebook or call director Nicole Friess-Schilling at (515) 370-5672.

History Boy Theatre Co.: Regional professional theatre company specializing in current, off-Broadway musicals. Come experience big-city theatre in a small town! Named 2013 Outstanding Tourism Business in the State by Travel Iowa and the Iowa Tourism Federation, quality is number one at History Boy. Productions each June and December as well as special events throughout the year. 115 S. Wilson Ave, Jefferson, IA. Call Angie at (515) 370-4306 for show dates and more information.

Sally’s Alley on Lincolnway in downtown Jefferson is dedicated to Sally White, author and photographer of Sally’s Backyard Birds. As a tribute to Sally’s dedication to birds, several of her photographs grace the alleyway. Small garden spaces, a little library and original poetry are featured.

Sierra Community Theatre — where you can enjoy a movie with the latest in movie projection, sound and visual technology, including knock-your-socks-off surround sound and 3-D projection. The Sierra shows many first run movies seven days a week with matinees on weekends. A Business Center is available for meetings, parties and events.

The Town and Country Band, based in Churdan, performs for audiences all over Greene County and beyond. Musicians from middle school through retirement play a variety of music including show tunes, Dixie, Big Band arrangements, patriotic music and more. New members are always welcome. Contact any band member or call (515) 389-2773 for information.

The creativity, energy and talent of so many in Greene County is inspirational. Whether their endeavor is theatre, dance, photography, painting, quilting, woodworking, music, poetry or performance — all lend vibrancy and synergy to the Arts scene. Each creative endeavor is a catalyst for another equally creative endeavor.

Arts of Greene County, a Facebook Community, promotes the Arts and related events in and around the county. See Arts of Greene County for more information.

Greene County GROWS: a regional farmers market. Tuesday Farmers Markets on the Courthouse Square have become a summer tradition. Beginning the first Tuesday in June and continuing every Tuesday through Sept. 30, regional fruit and veggie growers, bakers, artists, crafters and entrepreneurs sell their local products on the courthouse Square. Nearly 20 vendors regularly participate. Most weeks, the market features a meal provided by a local non-profit as a fundraiser. Special events and entertainment add to the fun. The Greene County Farmers Market brings together local growers, producers and artisans to promote healthy living locally. See more www.greenecountyfarmersmarket.com, farmersmarket@greenecountyiowa.com and on Facebook.
The Greene County Conservation Board manages 1,689 acres in 19 areas that include the intensively-managed Spring Lake Park, boat ramps on the North Raccoon River, public hunting areas and the Raccoon River Valley Trail system that extends to Guthrie, Dallas and Polk counties. These areas provide for a wide variety of outdoor recreation activities that include camping, fishing, hunting, boating, swimming, picnicking, biking, hiking, nature watching, snowmobiling and more.

Spring Lake Park is a 240-acre park with a 50-acre lake with a public beach and bordered by camp sites. The lake is a favorite of campers, fishermen, picnickers and other park users wanting to be near the water. 126 electrical campsites and two cabin rentals along with shower houses make this park home for many every weekend of the summer. Shelter houses are often used for family reunions and other gatherings and may be reserved by calling (515) 386-5674. A concessionaire provides roller skating, boat rental, and a beach concession stand. There are 2.2 miles of asphalt roads ideal for biking, rollerblading, jogging and walking. Northeast of Jefferson, 2 miles north and 1/2 mile west of the junction of County Road P33 and Highway 30 on 195th Street.

The North Raccoon River meanders for 40 miles through Greene County. Seven river access areas have been developed that include concrete boat ramps at Hyde Park, Brown Bridge, McMahon Access, Eureka Bridge, Henderson Park, Squirrel Hollow and Adkins Bridge. Canoeing and kayaking have become popular and trip lengths range from three to six hours, depending on water conditions.

Henderson County Park is one mile south of Jefferson next to the North Raccoon River. With a boat ramp just below the rock fishing riffle, the park provides restrooms, tent camping, a picnic area and grills.

Hyde Park is a 57-acre park along the North Raccoon River northwest of Scranton on County Road E63. The park offers 28 electrical camping hookups and unlimited primitive sites. A concrete boat ramp and fishing riffle provide easy access and improved fishing opportunity on the river.

Seven Hills Park is 80 acres of timberland just south and west of Jefferson. A sledding hill and enclosed shelter house exist for those interested in winter activities. The shelter house has electrical service and a stone fireplace and is a rustic venue for weddings and parties. Reservations may be made by calling (515) 386-5674.
Squirrel Hollow Park, developed in 1934, is the second oldest county park in Iowa. The 56-acre park is bordered on two sides by a 147-acre wildlife management area. The focal point of the park is a shelter house built on a bluff overlooking the North Raccoon River that offers a scenic view of the river valley. The park offers rustic camping, river fishing, canoeing, kayaking, hiking, picnicking and equestrian camping. The park has multiple access points to the river and is southeast of Jefferson, on Redwood Avenue, approximately .75 miles northeast of the junction of County Road P30 and 283rd Street.

Wildlife management and public hunting areas are managed for deer, turkeys and other forest wildlife. Bristol Township Wildlife Area and Willow Township Wildlife Area provide pond pits and are prairie wetland areas that are managed for pheasants and other waterfowl. Adkins Bridge Access, Hobart Wildlife Area, Squirrel Hollow Wildlife Area and Horseshoe Bend Wildlife Area are timbered tracts along the North Raccoon River designated for public hunting.

Iowa Department of Natural Resources
Several areas managed by the Iowa DNR provide excellent wildlife habitat. Dunbar Slough is 1,500 acres of marsh and prairie wildlife habitat recognized as one of the top bird observation areas. The slough also features unique artesian wells. Goose Lake in Bristol Township is a popular migratory waterfowl viewing area. Snake Creek and Fanny’s Branch Marsh in Washington Township are home to many bird species not commonly seen in more populated areas.

GOLF COURSES
The Hill Golf Course, Grand Junction, is a demanding course that has many hills, two meandering creeks and a pond water hazards, trees and sand bunkers incorporated into the course design that can alter your shots. (515) 738-2633

Jefferson Community Golf Course, at 501 W. Greenewood Road, is a 9 hole golf course with a bar and clubhouse that overlook the Raccoon River Valley. (515) 386-4178

Raccoon River Valley Trail (RRVT)
Enjoy the beauty of the countryside and small town hospitality all year long by traveling the 89-mile-long Raccoon River Valley Trail. Its paved surface is user-friendly for all outdoor enthusiasts.

The RRVT is owned and managed by the Conservation Boards in Greene, Guthrie and Dallas Counties. The trail is easily accessed from several designated trailheads with parking lots and restrooms. In Greene County, those trailheads are at the Milwaukee Road Depot in Jefferson, Winkleman’s Switch south of Jefferson, and in Cooper at its junction with County Road E57.

Fourteen communities offer a variety of parks, festival and celebrations with access to much food, beverages and shopping as well. The 72-mile interior loop through three counties is one of the longest hard-surfaced loop trails in the U.S. and connects into downtown Des Moines via the High Trestle Bridge Trail in the Des Moines River Valley.

Bicyclists, joggers, walkers, skaters, campers, cross-country skiers, birdwatchers, hunters, fishermen, naturalists and snowmobilers all use the RRVT, or at least those portions of the trail that are opened to specific uses.

Jefferson Trailhead Campground: Camping, electricity and modern restrooms with showers are available at the first campground on the Trail. The campground is conveniently located between the Greene County Fairgrounds and the restored Milwaukee Railroad Depot just east of downtown Jefferson.

The RRVT Association acts as an unofficial Chamber of Commerce for the Trail. For information about the communities along the trail, events and fun rides, see raccoonrivervalleytrail.org.

Coming SOON!
With the 2014 consolidation of the Jefferson-Scranton and East Greene school districts, a new era in local education begins.

The districts began whole grade sharing in 2012. Acknowledging declining enrollments of 25 percent since 2000, voters in both districts passed the reorganization vote with an 88 percent margin in 2013.

The mission of the new district is to partner with its communities to provide each student with a foundation for lifelong learning.

Drawing 1,400 students from a 450-square-mile area made up of most of 11 of Greene County’s 15 townships, the new district is on its way to combining education and extra-curricular activities for students, while integrating faculty, staff, food and transportation services and buildings and grounds operations.

The high school (ninth through 12th grades), middle school (seventh and eighth grade) and elementary school (pre-kindergarten through third grade), as well as the administration building, are located in Jefferson. The intermediate school (fourth through sixth grades) is in Grand Junction. The district offers tuition-based preschool for 3-year-olds and state-funded preschool for 4-year-olds.

Greene County Community Schools graduation rate is 95 percent with more than 88 percent of graduates seeking more education. Sports are a large part of the extra-curricular activities for 48 percent of the students. There are boy’s high school athletic teams for baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, track and wrestling. Girls may choose to participate in basketball, cross country, golf, softball, track and volleyball. Both can join swimming, soccer and tennis teams through sharing agreements with Boone High School and Carroll Kuemper High School.

The Ram Restaurant, where students in culinary classes prepare and serve meals to the public in a restaurant setting, is one of only five such programs in the Iowa. Instructor Donna Carhill and her students have competed successfully in state and national cook-offs.

In northern Greene County, Paton-Churdan Community School District draws about 200 students from a 125-square-mile area. The elementary and high schools, located in Churdan, have a 24-member faculty. Some athletic programs are shared with the Greene County School District.

Greene County Early Learning Center

The Greene County Early Learning Center is a non-profit child care center offering care to children ages two weeks to their 12th birthday. The center’s mission is to offer quality care in a learning environment. The hours of operation are Monday through Friday, 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., year round. Early Learning Center believes all children learn through play and daily routines are important. Caregivers have a love of children combined with professional training regarding children’s physical, cognitive and language with social emotional development as their focus.
Greene County Medical Center in Jefferson has served the community since its New Year's Day opening in 1938. Committed to excellence in health services from beginning to end of life, the Medical Center strives to improve the overall health of the entire Greene County Community.

A $22.5 million project that includes a 51,000-square-foot addition and another 50,000 square feet in extensive renovations began in early summer 2014.

The addition includes new space for the emergency department, primary care and obstetrics units, radiology, laboratory and respiratory therapy departments and a surgery area with surgical suites and private bays for pre- and post-surgery patient privacy.

Renovations will create a lobby off the Medical Center's main entrance and centrally located physicians' offices including the Advanced Women's Care Clinic, West Central Orthopedics and a UnityPoint Family Medical Clinic. The Medical Center's affiliation with UnityPoint Health-Des Moines provides advanced services as necessary.

The campus includes Ever Greene Ridge, a 33-unit independent adult retirement community. Nutritional support, housekeeping, maintenance services and emergency response are available to residents through Greene County Medical Center.

The Gardens in Jefferson provides assisted living services to anyone who is looking for choices to maintain their privacy and continue their independence while maintaining an active, comfortable and safe home-like environment. Assisted Living provides a combination of housing, supportive services, and personal health care designed to respond to the needs of individuals who require assistance with activities of daily living.

Regency Park is a skilled nursing facility in Jefferson that provides the highest level of specialized and individualized care, 24 hours a day, 7 days per week for the adult and geriatric population. Specialized programs include personalized care, pain management, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, IV therapy, dementia care, tracheotomy care, wound care, diabetic care, psychological services, podiatry services, and interfaith spiritual services. An interdisciplinary team approach is emphasized to meet the needs of each resident.
The faith communities of Greene County welcome you with peace and good will. There are more than 20 churches in Greene County and each have a special story to tell. Besides celebration and worship in their individual communities, the Greene County churches find joy in working together on many projects and events throughout the year in the ecumenical sense. Equipped with the common goal to give help when one is able, and accept help when one needs it, the faith-based organizations truly exemplify the concepts of community at its best.
With so many cemeteries with graves dating from 1850, interest in our collective history is high. Cemetery walks dramatize the histories of the county. The Greene County Genealogical Society provides assistance to those looking for more factual information. Its purpose is to foster and create an interest in genealogy, to preserve genealogical and historical data of our ancestors, to aid individual members in compiling family genealogies, and to improve and help maintain, through contribution of members and the Society, the genealogical reference sections of the public libraries in Greene County.

Business and Industry

Manufacturing: alive and well

Not many counties in Iowa or across the United States can make the claim that all their major manufacturers are successful and growing. But in Greene County, mid-sized industries are prospering. Economic development officials in the county believe their situation can serve as a model for other small counties to support and nurture local businesses.

Scranton Manufacturing is an innovative manufacturer of waste equipment including refuse trucks and compactors for a global market. With a recent expansion, they employ over 160 and are expanding their worker base.

American Athletic Inc. was founded in 1954 to manufacture trampolines. AAI is now the leading U.S. manufacturer of gymnastics equipment. They produce AAI cheerleading, basketball and volleyball equipment under the Spalding brand. They serve a global market with a workforce of over 100.

B & D Manufacturing is a manufacturer in the innovative field of geothermal systems in Scranton since 1988, serves a global “green market” with leading edge products. They have grown consistently during the past decade. They have expansion plans in progress that will further add to their 50-employee base.

Power Lift is a nationally-known manufacturer of fitness equipment, weights, Olympic lifting platforms and strength training equipment. They sell internationally and have expanded to more than 50 employees since opening in 1999. Some of their recent projects include training centers for several NBA and NFL teams, Iowa State University and a facility soon to be completed at the University of Iowa.
Greene County named “first” Home Base Iowa county

Greene County/Jefferson is the first to be designated as a Home Base Iowa Community under Gov. Terry Branstad’s Home Base Iowa initiative. Gov Branstad and Lt. Gov. Kim Reynolds visited Jefferson in March for a program celebrating that honor.

Home Base Iowa is a private-public partnership aimed at making Iowa the top state for job-seeking veterans. It is particularly focused on the thousands of personnel who will leave the military in the next five years due to a downsizing effort.

The designation as a Home Base Iowa community has four requirements: a resolution of support from local governments; 10 percent of businesses committing to become Home Base Iowa businesses by setting goals for hiring veterans; an incentive package to attract veterans; and a willingness to display the Home Base Iowa logo in signage.

As of March 13, Greene County has 31 Home Base Iowa businesses with a goal of hiring a total of 321 veterans. At that time, there were 53 Home Base Iowa businesses statewide.

The incentive package in Greene County and Jefferson includes elimination of closing costs for veterans purchasing homes with VA loans; a three-year property tax abatement for veterans purchasing homes; a $2,000 relocation support package offered by businesses; and a central list of available housing and jobs, as well as an online job pre-application on the GCDC website.

For more information contact Veterans Affairs director Tracie Perez at 515-386-5673, or Greene County Development director Ken Paxton at 515-386-8255, or visit www.greenecountyiowa.com.
Agriculture and energy

Hardin Hilltop Wind: Seven 265-foot-tall wind turbines stand like sentinels on a bluff just north of Jefferson on Highway 4 at Hardin Hilltop Wind Farm. The energy produced by the turbines is sold to Alliant Energy, which distributes it primarily to its customers in Greene County. “Over the course of a year,” explains Tom Wind, “the power produced almost exactly matches the demand in Jefferson.” That amount of wind-based energy also eliminates enough coal to fill a train three miles long every year. Excerpted from an article in the Iowan magazine: http://www.iowan.com/read/rss_feed/?power_players&show=news&newsID=15123.

There are other wind installations south of Dana and between Grand Junction and Rippey.

Louis Dreyfus began ethanol operation in 2007 and sell product nationally. They currently have a workforce of almost 70. The parent company, Louis Dreyfus Commodities, is headquartered in France.

Bauer Built started as an agricultural equipment repair shop in 1979, and began building and selling planters about a decade later. In 2002, the company joined forces with Deere & Company, and John Deere dealers began selling Bauer’s planter frames. John Deere acquired the company for $18 million in late 2013. The planters are sold worldwide.

West Central Cooperative is located in the heart of United States agriculture. West Central is a leading grain, agronomy and value-added processing entity. With headquarters in Ralston, on the Greene County/Carroll County border and a large facility in Jefferson and a smaller one in Scranton, the member-owned cooperative boasts a national and international agricultural presence. West Central’s first priority is to help growers, producers, and livestock farmers succeed by providing customers quality products, the latest in agricultural innovation, and first-class customer service. West Central employs a highly trained and educated staff to provide agricultural solutions for today’s producers. www.west-centralcoop.com.
